

The last word in FURNITURE

Something New

Have you stopped to think of the pleasure something new always brings with it? A dress, a ring, a piece of furniture—no matter what it may be, inspiration and bright spirits follow along in its wake, especially if it's furniture.

Every time you sit in the soft chair or stretch out on the soft couch, it makes you happy.

This is a happiness which everyone can afford while we have the stock we have, and charge the prices we do.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Special prices on a few old coats at Abbott's.

Get your Christmas cards early at Bell & Houston's.

Dance to-night at Socialist hall on Granite street—adv.

White damask for tablecloths, 72 inches wide, 45c a yard. Little Dry Goods Store, Cottage street.

Mrs. Agnes Clark of Manchester, N. H., is visiting at the home of Mrs. Margaret Stephens of 28 Maple avenue for a few days.

Miss Faun Barney, who has been in St. Johnsbury through the summer, returned last night to her home in South Barre.

Stovepipe and elbows, coal sifters, coal hods, stoveboards, stove repairs of all kinds. Special sale on lanterns, oil heaters. E. A. Prindle, Depot square, 200 North Main street.

Why don't you board? Can spare a few rooms for the winter, also would take some table boarders. We run a special Sunday dinner. Come in and try one. Hotel Barre, J. V. Rowen, Mgr.

George Lightner, who has been away on a business trip in the interests of Barclay Bros., returned to Barre last evening. Mr. Lightner traveled through New York, Pennsylvania and states in the middle west.

Manager John B. Eames of the Park theatre, who has been quite seriously ill at Hotel Barre, was able to sit up for a short time yesterday. His condition is improving slowly, although he will be confined indoors for some time.

Deputy Game Warden Charles A. Keith of North Seminary street left this morning for Marshfield, where he is to pass the week end inspecting a number of camps which deer hunters have picked since the season opened.

Henry W. Barnard, state organizer of the Catholic Order of Foresters, returned to his home in Newport last evening, after spending the past week conducting a campaign in Barre. Mr. Barnard will return and work in Graniteville during next week.

Miss Doris Farrar, formerly of Barre, but now of Wakefield, Mass., arrived in the city last night from Montpelier, where she has been visiting friends for a few days. Miss Farrar will stay with friends in Barre and Montpelier until after the holidays.

Cold weather this week caught a number of motorists unaware with the result that repair men at several garages have been besieged with orders for new cylinders. At least two owners of heavy touring cars had six cylinders burst in their cars and another motorist who purchased a high power roadster last spring found that the four cylinders in his car had expanded unceremoniously.

Following their regular meeting at the post rooms on the fourth floor of city hall, the veterans of R. B. Crandall post, No. 56, G. A. R., are to be entertained at a "veterans' day" observance in Worthen block hall. The members of the post gathered at their headquarters this afternoon at 1 o'clock and after the regular meeting they were escorted to the Worthen hall, where the Sons of Veterans and woman's auxiliary had charge of a program. At 5 o'clock supper will be served to the veterans, their wives and other guests.

Dante Peduzzi returned to Barre yesterday from Worcester mountain, he being one of the successful nimrods, who have cast their lot for a deer this fall. Mr. Peduzzi shot the deer yesterday morning on the crest of Worcester mountain, after emptying the magazine of his Winchester in the fleeing animal. The deer is a spike horn, but of extra weight for a deer as young as this one, weighing 175 pounds after being dressed. Charles Connor, who was in camp with Mr. Peduzzi returned to Barre yesterday. The other members of the party will remain in camp about two weeks longer.

Winter having put an stopper on football schedules among the preparatory schools in this section of Vermont, neither of the two local teams was in action to-day. Spaulding heard yesterday that St. Albans had disbanded its high school team for the season and the prospects for the much heralded Goddard-Colby academy game are growing more and more remote. A number of football fans in this city and near vicinity planned to be in Burlington to-day for the Vermont-Middlebury game, which was to be played on a field of ice from which a willing corps of college students swept the snow earlier in the week.

Barre granite manufacturers as well as quarrymen who ship large quantities of rough stock to western points are conscious that the car shortage is rapidly approaching the acute stage, and there is an uneasy feeling that shippers will have a deal of trouble in reserving cars before the beginning of the year. Congestion in railroad centers was cited as the reason for a car famine last spring, but the increasing demand for cars, a demand which the railroads cannot supply is responsible for the present shortage. Railroad heads declare that they cannot compete with armors in buying steel for cars and it is reasoned that the demand for foodstuffs throughout the country must necessarily engage most of the available cars.

The second evening's entertainment of the B. A. C. fair at Howland hall proved to be more successful than that of the first night. The hall was filled to its capacity throughout the entire evening, from the time that the Norwich cadets gave their drill to the final hour of the dance. The booths again proved to be a great center of attraction throughout the evening, the committees in charge of them were being kept busy satisfying their customers' wants. Without a doubt, the feature of the entire fair was the drill by the Norwich cadets from eight to nine o'clock in last night's entertainment, when they made their third annual appearance before a Barre A. C. audience. Twenty-one soldiers appeared in drill, there being a captain, first-sergeant, color bearer and two buglers with a company of 16 men marching in four. The first formation consisted of close drill, the cadets marching around the hall in lines of four, eight and sixteen. This was followed by Butt's physical practice, a drill which is pleasing to look upon, as the cadets in their perfectly drilled manner, appear like a machine in action. After the physical drill, Butt's rifle drill was in order, it being equally as interesting as the physical work. Other drills which showed exceptionally good training were the silent manual of arms and the regulation bugle calls, which the cadets responded to throughout the day's routine. The entertainment was followed by music and dancing with a large crowd participating, the floor being filled to its capacity through every dance of the evening. It was finally decided that there would be no entertainment in the evening's program to-night and that the dancing would commence at eight o'clock with Carroll's orchestra in attendance.

TALK OF THE TOWN

See those new kimono at Abbott's. Miss Lucy Thomas and Mrs. Florence Chase returned to their home in St. Albans last night, after visiting friends on Brook street during the past fortnight.

Major F. W. Russell, who visited friends in Barre and Montpelier while here for the annual banquet of the Vermont commandery, M. O. F. W., returned yesterday to his home in Plymouth, N. H.

George T. Cutler, who is employed as a line inspector by the New England Tel. Co. in Burlington, arrived in the city last evening to be the guest of Henry H. Jodgson of Highland avenue. He was joined to-day by "Bud" Robbins, formerly employed in Barre as a fireman. To-day Messrs. Cutler, Hodgson, Robbins and Alderman A. E. Bruce went to Perkinsville, there to join W. H. Wood and E. C. Cutler, who have been encamped on Downing hill this week.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Guy Vitagliano of North Main street left this morning for Concord, N. H., to pass the week end with friends.

Richard Carpenter, who returned last night from a trip over the "Wells River" line, states that a small doe, shot by an unknown hunter near Niggerhead pond, was put aboard the late afternoon train yesterday, the animal having been consigned to a game warden.

"Tech News," a weekly publication issued by the students of Worcester Polytechnic institute in Worcester, Mass., comments favorably this week on the creditable showing of Louis Tomasi of Barre, who played at left end on the institute's football team in a game with Rensselaer Polytechnic institute. "Tomasi played exceptionally well at left end for the time he was in the game." "Tech" concludes. Young Tomasi gained much of his knowledge of football at Spaulding high school, where he was graduated two years ago.
